IT'S YES TO POKIES

National League clubs, State League clubs and the Victorian Soccer Federation this week expressed strong support for the possible legalisation of poker machines in Victoria next year.

The State ALP government of Premier John Cain has appointed Mr Murray Wilcox QC to head an enquiry until October into poker machine legalisation.

NSL chairman Sam Pappasavas and VSF secretary George Wallace said it was likely that a submission would be made to the enquiry on behalf of soccer.

Big news from Melbourne Croatia is that it hopes to build a fully-licensed social club, equipped with poker machines, on 21 acres of land in Deer Park.

Croatia intends also to build a ground on the land, for which it expects to get a lease from Sunshine City Council within the next two or three weeks.

Croatia president Joe Sigur said the project would cost "millions".

"Poker machines would be great for Victorian clubs," Mr Sigur said. "It's the poker machines that so far have made the Sydney clubs stronger than ours."

He said that with poker machines, he would expect Croatia's club membership to jump from the present 750 to at least 2000.

VSF secretary George Wallace said: "Legalisation would certainly be of great benefit to the Federation and to our clubs because poker machines would be a means of generating revenue."

"Poker machines would put our semi-professional clubs on a firmer footing, providing there is no abuse of the facility."

"The only problem I can see is whether, as was the case with Western Suburbs in Sydney, the social side of a club grows so much that it drowns out the soccer side."

"I think the VSL would be willing to make a submission to the poker machine enquiry the way we did for the introduction of the Pools in 1972-73."

NSL chairman Sam Pappasavas said: "I'm delighted that the State government is taking this attitude. Poker machines would be of great benefit to all sports clubs in Victoria, just as they are in NSW."

"They would result in better ground facilities and allow us to compete with NSW clubs on a more equal basis."

Mr Pappasavas added that Victoria's four NSL clubs — Hellas, Makedonia, Heidelberg and J.U.S.T. — in conjunction with the VSF, should emerge counsel to appear at the enquiry on soccer's behalf.

"It's a very, very good idea, and I hope it goes ahead. We would instal poker machines at our social clubs virtually straight away," said Greg Schipano, president of State League club Fawkner, which has strong support from the Italian community.

"We already have applied for a liquor licence and we expect to be called before the Liquor Control Commission in May."

"The Broadmeadows Council has said it would provide us with a new ground and facilities in Mahoney's Road within the next three years, but we would retain our present premises in Jukes Road as our social club."

John Branov, president of Preston Makedonia, which has an impressive licensed social club opposite its ground at Reservoir, was more enthusiastic than anyone we talked to about poker machines.

"They will help all clubs work out their financial problems," Mr Branov said.

"We are hoping, dreaming and praying for legalisation."

Mexico gets Cup, Canada, U.S. fume

ZURICH, the special committee appointed by FIFA to examine the applications to stage the 1986 World Cup finals is to pursue only the Mexican application.

A FIFA statement said the committee, chaired by Hermann Neuburger of West Germany, had reached this conclusion "after careful study and consideration" of the applications from Canada, the United States and Mexico.

The statement said the applications from Canada and the U.S. deviated too much from the conditions laid down in the terms of reference approved by FIFA's executive committee.

Canada's application deserved special praise for its systematic presentation, said the statement, but only nine stadiums were offered instead of the required 12.

And the vast distances between venues on the North American continent would also cause organisational problems, the statement said.

The special committee — comprising chairman Neuburger, Argentina's Carlos Alberto Lacoste, Horst Schmidt also of West Germany, and general secretary Joseph Blatter — will visit Mexico from April 11 to 18.

The FIFA executive committee meeting in Stockholm on May 20 will decide on the venue for the finals on the basis of information received and conclusions reached.

The president of the North American Soccer league said in New York he was outraged at the apparent decision by FIFA to reject the U.S. and Canadian bids.

"I am truly outraged at FIFA's announcement that they would only consider Mexico's application for the World Cup without even making inspection tours of the U.S. and Canada," said Howard J. Samuels.

"I think their action is an insult not only to the soccer federations of both countries, but also to President Reagan and Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau of Canada, both of whom have expressed their undivided enthusiasm for hosting the World Cup."

Later, the U.S. Soccer Federation (USSF) announced it had protested to FIFA against its decision to consider only Mexico's application.

It requested clarification of FIFA's action and asked FIFA to reverse its decision, which also apparently dashed Canada's hopes of staging the finals.

Werner Fricker, chairman of the USSF World Cup Organising Committee, said in a message "Your decision not to visit the United States as prescribed by your own rules and regulations is unacceptable."

Spotlight on our ills

After the boom of the early 70s and the hopes raised by the inception of the National League, soccer here has not really progressed. Some observers even assert it has gone backwards.

The reasons are many and difficult to pinpoint with accuracy. But when well-established and reasonably successful clubs like Frankston City fold up a half of unpaid bills and unfulfilled players' contracts the time has come to take our heads out of the sand and look at stern reality.

"Soccer Action", mindful of its duty as the most authoritative voice of the game, opens the debate on this sore point with a series of articles, starting next week by ROCKY DI ZIO, a well known former soccer administrator with experience going back 20 years.

In a series of three articles he will look at how players, clubs and federations are responsible for the sorry state of the game.

It is constructive, well documented criticism of our set-up; it reveals trends and practices that are strangling the game; it pulls no punches, it is compulsive reading for all soccer people, players, officials and supporters.

It starts in "Soccer Action" next week.

Patikas, Incantalupo veteran youth stars

Jim Patikas, Fabio Incantalupo and David Lowe go into the World Youth Championships in Mexico in June as Australia's most distinguished youth players.

Patikas, the midfielder bought by Sydney Olympic from Sydney City for $20,000 this year, is Australia's most-capped youth international after the team's successful WYC qualifying series.

He has played 25 games for the youth team, including 20 classified as full youth international (against other national youth teams). The balance comprises games against overseas club teams.

Incantalupo, of Victorian club Juventus, is second with 23 appearances, including 18 international.

Both are in their second WYC series, having played also in the 1981 tournament staged in Australia.

Lowe, of Newcastle KB United, is the top youth team scorer, with 15 goals, 10 of them in full youth international.

We have prepared a youth team honors roll of leaders in appearances and goals, since Australia's preparation in 1979 for its first WYC.

The roll is made up of the number of full youth international games, the total number of games (including games against overseas club sides or combined sides), full international goals and total goals.

Watch Vincent go!

Of all the newcomers to the NSL this season, few can match the promise of Bob Vincent — widely regarded as among the best players produced by English schoolboy soccer just four years ago.

There was little doubt that Vincent would become a professional. Many clubs vied for his signature, yet it was Sunderland which he joined; firstly as an apprentice, and then as full pro, in November, 1979.

Eighteen months elapsed before a tentative first team debut was made at West Bromwich Albion in a Division One fixture. Five days later he came on as substitute during a home game with Brighton.

Both matches were lost and Vincent also lost favor with manager Alan Durban.

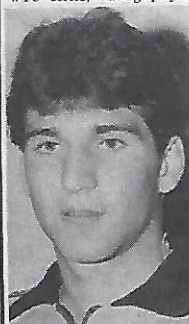

Released by the Rokerites, he moved to second division Orient on a non-contract basis in time to play in the already relegated club's last game of the 1981-82 season. A morale boosting 3-0 victory over Leicester seemed to augur well for both Orient and its newcomer, who played fearfully in midfield.

Full terms were offered and accepted shortly afterwards and the Novocastrian appeared regularly in the Orient line-up during the early part of the current English League campaign.

After 10 games though, the last one on November 13, 1982, Vincent was again discarded, enabling Heidelberg to pick him up.

Although he has worn the white shirt of England, it was at schoolboy level and therefore Vincent will be eligible to represent Australia.

Following in dad's footsteps

It was in 1971 that Scotsman John Kirkpatrick of South Hobart won the first ever Rothmans Gold Medal in Tasmania. How time flies! John's 23-year-old son, Billy, is now making his own name on the Tasmanian soccer scene.

In 1981, Billy was in the Brighton-ICL team that won the league and cup double. Last season he returned to his previous club, Croatia-Glenorchy, and scored five goals in as many matches, including the final, to help the team win the Michael the Tailor Cup.

Kirkpatrick has played in every position except in goal. His favorite is in midfield, but central striker suits him too. Midway through last season he hit a goal famine and was moved to the centre-back position where he dominated. It remains to be seen where Croatia's coach, John Grimsey, puts him this year.

A regular reader of "Soccer Action", Billy always watches the fortunes of his team-mate of two years ago, Kevin Swinscoe, now with Juventus in Victoria.

It reminds him of when he was 16 and had the chance to go to Victoria too. "I had a chance to trial with Box Hill. I think I was a bit scared to go over there so I said no. I didn't give it any thought at all," he says. Those ambitions have gone now, however.

Experts say: 'Forget the pretty passing'

"An accepted notion is that effective soccer is based upon ball possession, i.e. building up patiently from the back, using large numbers of consecutive passes, which coaches have come to think of as a thing of beauty. I have come to know it as a thing that is completely ineffective and will not win matches."

So says Charlie Hughes who arguably has written the two best coaching books to come from England: "Football Tactics and Teamwork," and "Soccer Tactics and Skills," and he also devised the latest coaching videos (FACTS).

The above quote obviously supports the whirlwind style of Watford which I discussed in a recent edition.

Hughes supports his theory by quoting statistics.

In the recent World Cup 146 goals were scored and he has analysed 106 of them, or in other words two thirds of the goals scored. He found that 84 of those goals were scored in four passes or less which in his opinion suggests that more direct play produces results.

Conversely he suggests that when 12 or 13 passes have been strung together the statistics show that seldom if at all does a goal result.

Hughes continues that looking at certain aspects which relate to how many goals are scored you see that set plays, i.e. free kicks, corners and throw-ins in the attacking third of the field account for 50% of all goals scored.

In analysing reasons for this, one finds that a number of the set pieces are caused in the first place by the early ball behind defenders.

This means the defenders have to turn and, being under pressure, can concede throw-ins, corners or even free kicks.

Consequently the attacking side can now determine when and where they play the ball and also have time to bring the big defenders up to become an aerial threat to the defending teams.

On the other side of the coin, Frank McLintock who suggests the Watford style worries him, says that this style of play contains none of the ingredients that makes soccer such a fascinating game.

McLintock continues: "Where is the passing, the clever little lighted balls, the deftness of situations that have incubated such inimitable talents as the Liam Bradys, Johnny Giles, Arnold Muhrens of the world?"

"Where is the skill that delights, as men use their ingenuity to weave patterns and outwit each other in a battle of opposing talents?"

They, he suggests, is the stuff of another type of battle. It is like the storming of the Bastille or the Battle of the Somme.

It has no place in a game

TIM WHITE

Victorian coaching director that is a sporting art form which has grown throughout the world because of its creative capacity.

Men like Pele, Puskas, Didi, Di Stefano, Charlton (Bobby),

Beckenbauer and the likes would not have found any fulfilment in such a frenzied fandang.

If we return to our domestic situation, maybe comparisons can be made with problems faced by our National League teams, or indeed our national team.

Footscray JUST coach Bobby McLachlan was quoted recently, saying: "Footscray plays pretty soccer but it does not pay." He went on: "I have to teach my boys to cut out 12 passes and make three passes to get a goal. They play tremendous stuff but it does not produce goals."

McLachlan suggests that "Footscray looks good but there's a difference between winning and losing."

There are no prizes for guessing which style McLachlan prefers — Watford's or McLintock's — although I guess either would do as long as they score and win.

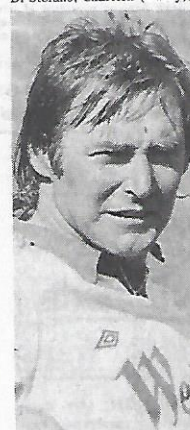

Watching Heidelberg recently I would imagine that the Watford whirlwind style would be a waste of time for them.

The players possessing the aerial power up front are missing.

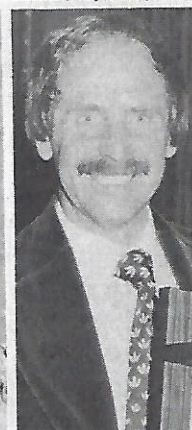

Mike Valentine could fill the roll of supporting from the flank. Jim Campbell would certainly provide the back-up from the midfield. On the other hand Juan Toro seems more fitted to the "clever little lighted balls" suggested by McLintock.

Whichever style coach Ken Morton opts for, a central striker or two must be top of the shopping list if Heidelberg is to seriously contest the title.

As I suggested previously, there are different ways to play the game. It is built around the principles of the game, the coach's understanding of them and player availability.

ALWAYS FIRST WITH THE BEST

The 22-man Australian squad named by Frank Arok last week is:

GOALKEEPERS: Terry Greedy (St. George), Greg Woodhouse (APIA).

DEFENDERS: Bobby Russell, Steve Blair, Alan Davidson (St. Melb Hellas), Mike O'Shea, David Ratcliffe (St. George), Jim Cant (Sydney City), Graham Jennings (Sydney Olympic), Tony Henderson (Marconi), Arno Bertogna (APIA).

MIDFIELDERS: Ken Murphy (St. Melb Hellas), Mike Valentine (Heidelberg), George Christopoulos (Canberra), Peter Raskopoulos, Peter Katholos (Sydney Olympic), Joe Watson (Sydney City).

FORWARDS: John Kosmina, David Mitchell (Sydney City), Marshall Soper (Sydney Olympic), Sebastian Giampolo (APIA), Mark Jankovics (Marconi).

O'Connor out, Soper is Arok's No. 1

Peter Laumets (Hellas), Gerardo Gomez (Sydney City), Jim Campbell (Heidelberg) and Ian Souness (Sydney City) are possible additions or replacements for the 22-man national squad named last week for the three-match series against England in June.

Coach Frank Arok made it clear that the composition of the squad may change, and that only the best in-form players would take the field against England on June 12, 15 and 19.

He affirmed that he wants to use blocks of players from the strongest club teams.

He had spoken about using the entire Hellas defence, but did not name Laumets, John Yzendoron or Arthur Xanthopoulos in the squad. Yzendoron is vying with Xanthopoulos for the Hellas sweeper's role.

However, he did choose Joe Watson to link up with his Sydney City team mates John Kosmina and David Mitchell.

The three surprise selections are Mike Valentine of Heidelberg, Jim Cant of Sydney City and Graham Jennings of Olympic.

The surprise omission is that of Wollongong's Phil O'Connor.

Valentine joined Heidelberg only in June last year, on a $5000 transfer from Box Hill.

Arok said he had seen Valentine four times and rates him as the fittest player in Australia.

A possible team, in 4-2-4 formation, from among the 22 named by Arok, in consultation with national coach Les Scheinflug is: Terry Greedy — Bobby Russell, Steve Blair, Arno Bertogna, Alan Davidson — Joe Watson, George Christopoulos, Ken Murphy, Mike Valentine — John Kosmina, Marshall Soper.

Arok said that on current form, Murphy and Soper were definite starters against England.

"What Australia lacked in its two losses against New Zealand was a willingness to tackle and to win the ball in midfield," Arok said.

"We need a readiness to dive and die, dive and die again."

"There were too many ball players against New Zealand."

About Valentine, he added: "He's young (20), he's Australian-born, he has an incredible work-rate, a fine attitude to the game and good passing ability. I want to have a good look at him in our training camp on April 19 and 20."

He said he regarded Soper of Olympic as his No. one striker because of Soper's skill and fighting qualities.

"We must build our attack around him, but he needs a good supply of the ball, and that's where Watson will come in. He is the only man who can supply the ball regularly from the wing."

Apart from Laumets, Gomez, Campbell and Souness (if fit), Arok also has Doug Brown of Hellas under consideration — not for the England series because he is not yet naturalised, but as a service to Scheinflug, who may look to Brown for the 1985 World Cup qualifying series.

The squad features five players who have not previously played for Australia — Greedy, Mike O'Shea, Cant, Murphy and Valentine.

Of the players who were in the squad against New Zealand, the following have been omitted for the England series: Martin Crook (West Adelaide, injured), Bruce James (Blacktown), Alan Niven (Brisbane Lions), Robert Wheatley (Blacktown), Gary Byrne (Canberra), Phil O'Connor (Wollongong), Gary Cole (Heidelberg, injured), and Tony Brennan (Canberra).

'Rasko' and Patikas set up!

When Sydney Olympic beat Sydney City 5-1 two weeks ago, it was the first time I had been in a team that beat the NSL giants.

And what a whalloping it was!

It could have been worse if not for some selfish play, but although it was quite a humiliating loss for the champions, I'm sure they'll bounce back, especially if some of their players try to play soccer with their feet and not their mouths.

On the coaching side of things, I'd like to mention Lubo Gokovic and what a fine job he did with the Sydney Olympic re-signer in 1982, producing fine youngsters in Tony Dakos, Terry Patalis and Athar Zinos who now are making their mark in the NSL.

It was unfortunate that cir-

KAT'S CORNER
with PETER KATHOLOS

circumstances forced him to leave our club (he's with Sydney City now). Some in soccer circles underrate him, but everyone has his own style and his can't be that bad when he produces young players of such a high calibre.

Last week there was speculation in Sydney that my team mate Peter Raskopoulos and I were fighting.

Well, we have been friends for a long time, and friends are entitled to have their occasional differences. Every good family has its differences, and so it is with Sydney Olympic. It's best to bring these things out into the open and to realise the importance of unity.

It's also true that outside interference can cause friction among players and so such influence must be ignored completely.

Everything's fine now. There are no problems between us and we're working well together.

Dutch goalscorer seeks club in Australia

A Dutch player with the South China Club in Hong Kong wants to go to Australia. He is Kees Storm, a 29-year-old striker who was top scorer with Selko last year. In Holland Storm was centre forward for The Hague and also played with De Graafschap and NAC Breda. He can be contacted at Victoria Centre, Block 1-32C, Watson Road, North Point, Hong Kong and his telephone number is 5-885372.

Simonsen out

As I predicted Danish international and former European Player of the Year Allan Simonsen has left Charlton after a $650,000 transfer from Barcelona less than four months ago. Simonsen, 29, played only 17 games for Charlton but scored nine goals. Charlton, through agreement with Barcelona, have paid the Spanish club $200,000 but the remaining $350,000 is wiped off after Simonsen's decision to rejoin his home town side Vejle as a part-timer and on peanuts wages.

Knock-out

When centre half Billy Ayre, then with Halifax Town and now with Mansfield, booted the ball into the crowd, he got tangled up in a lawsuit that may make soccer history. For he knocked out spectator Tom Hutchinson 44. Now Tom is suing Ayre and Halifax Town for damages of $800. It happened in March last year and Hutchinson is a life long Halifax fan.

Yashin ill

Former Russian goalkeeper Lev Yashin who recently suffered a heart attack is reported to be well on the way to recovery according to reliable Moscow sources.

Hoddle

Inter Milan have been having talks in London with Spurs and England midfielder when Hoddle who has been languishing in the reserves, making a comeback through injury. Hoddle's contract with Spurs expires at the end of this season.

Shrewd Larios

The French international star Jean Francois Larios bought his own transfer from the devastated St Etienne for a reported $200,000, then signed a three-year contract with Athletic Madrid which will net him signing fees of $360,000 in addition to his salary. The 26 year old midfielder was at loggerheads with his international team-mate Michel Platini now of Juventus last year.

Cunningham

Laurie Cunningham the former West Bromwich Albion and England winger who moved to Real Madrid four years ago and has been plagued with injury for some time, has joined Manchester United until the end of the season on approval. Cunningham will cost United about $48,000 until the end of the season and if he is then taken on a permanent basis will cost another $400,000 or so. Ron Atkinson was manager of West Brom when he was sold to Real, New Atkinson, manager of Manchester United, has bought him back.

Homecoming

Sandy Clark, Scotland's Player of the Year in 1982 who moved from Airdrie to West Ham in July for $400,000, scored 10 goals for the Hammers but missed six games through a groin injury, has moved back across the border to Rangers for $230,000.

Thijssen

Franz Thijssen, the Ipswich and Dutch international midfielder whose form has gone sour with the East Anglian club after winning the PFA Player of the Year Award last season has had talks also in London with Vancouver Whitecaps.

Brooking

Trevor Brooking, the veteran West Ham and England defender who hasn't played top soccer since the World Cup in Spain through a pelvic injury, has started his comeback in the West Ham Reserves.

26 arrests

The Hungarian Football Association has suspended 198 players following the arrest of 26 men alleged to have rigged matches in connection with the State-run soccer pools.

Latchford

Bob Latchford, nearing 25 goals this season for Swansea City, recently turned down an offer to join Chelsea who offered $100,000 for the Brisbane guest player.

Video plot

A Glasgow Rangers fan and an Austrian fan who resides in Munich helped in some small way to plot Bayern's downfall against Aberdeen. The Rangers fan, Robert McIlroy, an accountant, met the German-domiciled Robert Crailer last year on the continent and, both being video fans, they started exchanging tapes of Scottish and German soccer. The Glasgow man passed on some of the Bayern Munich tapes to Aberdeen manager Alex Ferguson and they may have helped the Dons dispose of Rummennig, Bretnere and company.

Croatia closer, Manly next for Sharks

Sutherland, the league leader, will entertain Manly this week in what most soccer observers see as the derby of the round. Johnny Watkins is among the winners for the umpteenth season with his side clearly the best in the League at the moment.

Manly, the side which lost its top four place in the closing stages of last year's premiership, wants to do better this year. With a new clubhouse completed and facilities at Cromer Park improving by the day, this club is looking towards a great future.

At Melita Stadium, Raul Blanco's Melita Eagles will welcome Avala. Last year, Melita had problems with Avala, losing at home by a single goal. It shapes as yet another close game, despite Avala's poor showing against Blacktown last Sunday.

Melita is still searching for that goalscoring touch and while the ever-watchful Melita supporters hope it comes this weekend, I am sure Avala's supporters will hope for the opposite.

Postponed match (Round 2):

Melita 3 Yugal 0

Scorers: McKie (21', Farrugia 62', 85').

MELITA Eagles: A. McPherson, R. McPherson, R. McPherson, Cross, Daley, McGinn, McAusland, Martinez (Duarte 55'), McKie, Jamieson, Allen, Farrugia.

YUGAL: Barry, Randall, Gogic, McIntosh, Clarke, Turkubulu, Karacan (Pahor 85'), Morsello (Mihajlovic 72'), Rokondar, Babian, Tanovski.

Robert McPherson charged past Yugal's defenders before crossing to the near post of John McKie to send a superb header past Peter Berry for the first goal in the 21st minute.

Yugal battled for the remainder of the first half and to some extent the beginning of the second, but as soon as Ray Farrugia scored his first and Melita's second goal in the 62nd minute it was all Melita Eagles. John McKie saw an opportunity to slip his pass to an unmarked Ray Farrugia and the rest was easy. Melita's star forward shot wide of Berry to make it 2-0.

Farrugia put away a thunderbolt in the 85th following some neat work by Greg McCoy, late replacement for McKie.

For Melita this was a welcome win in a season which will see at least six sides vie for the top four positions. Ray Farrugia, firing on all cylinders, was by far the best Melita player, while McCoy and Dennis Duarte, the late replacement, made a close second. For Yugal, Babian (ex-Melita) showed a willingness to take on anyone, managing to et his forwards going on numerous occasions.

Hector Martinez, with his great ball control and distribution might be better suited to a central rather than wing position, but of course with some heavy exercises between now and then.

Crowd: Approx. 2,000. BLACKTOWN: James, Wheatley, Rasmussen, Turnbull, Pointer, Brogan, (Thornwaite 78'), Selva, Stoddart, Walker, McLaughlin, Kirwan.

During the first 45 minutes Avala shaded Blacktown. Demos and could have easily been one or two goals up, then the whole trend of the game changed, with Blacktown getting its five goals, two coming in the space of one minute close to the end of the match.

Bruce James, Australian reserve keeper, back in the first grade for the first time this season, made a superb save from John Lembray after some 16 minutes to keep Avala at bay. Then came some of the misses by Avala which would cost them dearly in the end.

Agenor Muniz, the ex-Socero, floated a free kick to Burrows who managed to get into the clear, then hit the crossbar from close range. In the 28th minute it was Branko Karanilovski who eluded the defence but he also managed to sky his shot over the bar from close range.

Paul Kirwan corner in the 55th minute changed the second period. Agenor Muniz, the most recent signing, term of this match, John Stoddart was at the end of it to head down and Barry Walker was left with the easiest of tasks to score.

Seven minutes later it was Robert Wheatley who started a move by pushing a through ball to McLaughlin and the newest addition to the Australian Young Soccerers made no mistake with an angled drive.

John Stoddart beat Steve Deller in the 69th to create space, then send a low cross for McLaughlin to sidefoot it into the net. With seven minutes to go Walker scored his second and Blacktown's fourth goal and some 45 seconds later McLaughlin was in for his hat-trick.

Tony Boskovic ended Avala's nightmare soon after. In fact it was also some nightmare for Boskovic who was on the field for 270 minutes, being the linesman in the third grade match, then linesman again for the second grade to finish up refereeing the first grade.

Paul Burrows and Hossein Housseini, the ex-Blacktown players failed to impress in front of their former crowd, faltering badly during the second period. Agenor Muniz, the most recent signing, played well during the first period.

the ball. Ellis went for a cross, missed it completely and Grieve made no mistake.

Some 10 minutes later, Ellis made yet another mistake, allowing Charlie Prigmeja to nip in and push the ball over the line after Ellis had dropped the ball close to the goal line.

It was hard going from then on, with Auburn looking the stronger of the sides and with every chance to win. However, just as in the case of Auburn, Manly decided to bring on a substitute and it paid off. Andy Scott came on for van Heide with some five minutes of the match remaining and with his first touch decided to go for goal. He ran some 30 metres unmarked before pushing a hard low drive wide of Bowman to make it 3-2.

Croatia was dominant in the air, but that alone could not swing it for the favored side, and despite holding a one goal advantage for almost half an hour, Croatia lost a point to a goal goal by Clive Eaton.

The visitors struck the lead midway through the first half after an error by its new English signing, Rockbank. His pass to Antman went over the keeper's head, hit the post and bounced back straight at Arnold who accepted the gift with glee, slamming the ball straight back into the net.

Eaton, Gavin and Reagan worked hard before Kuringai got its equaliser, while Steve Leak made a lot of difference in the air after replacing Tom Gavin.

Bankstown has managed to draw for the second time in as many weeks but will most probably look upon this match with Yugal as the "one that got away". Yugal was by no means a push over, but in a game dominated by defenders, Bankstown appeared to have had the better of what little chances came.

Yugal had the ball in the net after 30 minutes but the goal was cancelled for offside.

The game was dominated by both keepers, with Steve Giffin and Peter Berry making some splendid saves, while McIntosh and Gogic for Yugal and Augustino and Alan Beck for Bankstown stopped most of what the other side could throw at them.

Sutherland almost came unseated by the home team, full of enthusiasm and keen to come forward. Since the arrival of Roberto Vieri, the side has certainly started to fire.

In fact it was Vieri who provided the home team with a vital pass in the 63rd minute to create an opening for Monaro's equaliser, after Mark Harrington had put Sutherland ahead only two minutes earlier.

Arguero was on the mark in the 34th minute to give his side the lead. He met a cross from the right to head wide of Haynes and send the small but enthusiastic crowd into a frenzy.

Shortly after half time, Mark Harrington scored the first of his two goals with a neatly-placed header. The ball appeared to strike the hand of Inter Monaro defender, Santolin, before going into the net and in fact the linesman had his flag up for an infringement, but the ball rolled into the net and the referee was on hand to point to the centre.

Last year it was 5-1 to the Sharks in the corresponding fixture, but the draw still keeps their unbeaten record intact, while Kuringai's draw against Croatia cancels the possibility of Croatia taking the lead.

• In a game between Manly and Auburn, replacements made a very solid impact on the match. Grieve scored for Auburn after only 30 seconds on the park, but so did Andy Scott after coming on as a replacement for Manly.

Lujic, Kafka, Nyskohus set to switch clubs

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Heidelberg, preparing for its big match against Sydney City on Sunday, was continuing its negotiations for Zdravko Lujic of Footscray J.U.S.T., and Woolongong was bidding for APIA's Zdenko Kafka as we went to Press.

J.U.S.T. also hoped to make a bid for Adelaide City's John Nyskohus, who has been transfer-listed along with Charlie Villani, Chris Manou, central defender Chris Miller and winger Jimmy Wright.

Nyskohus has been transfer-listed because it is believed he does not see eye to eye with coach Bobby Ferguson. Nyskohus joined Adelaide City for the start of the NSL in 1977 and is the club's top scorer with 53 goals. He scored four goals in 44 matches for Australia.

Wright was signed from West Adelaide during the off-season but has played only three games for Adelaide City as a substitute.

Heidelberg was negotiating for a possible swap between Lujic and Jamie Paton. Heidelberg also would pay a cash sum to J.U.S.T.

It is believed Lujic is unsettled at J.U.S.T. He has agreed to terms offered by Heidelberg, which also has signed big striker Scott Patterson from State League club Box Hill.

Woolongong, which meets league leader West Adelaide on Sunday, hopes to have Kafka in its line-up. The former Yugoslav First Division player was valued by APIA at $8000, but Woolongong coach Willie Wallace believed that price was too high for a 32-year-old.

"I think they will be realistic now and we should secure him during the week," Wallace said at the weekend.

Heidelberg v. Sydney City

Record so far: Sydney City 4 wins, 5 draws, 3 losses; 13:12 goals.

Ian Souness is back for Sydney City, having recovered from injury, and Todd Clarke may lend his experience to the goalkeeping department, making City a more formidable team than the one that lost 1-5 to Sydney Olympic.

The Mickey Mouse National League

By Roger Sherack

It was strange I thought as I glanced across the empty parking spots around Lambert Park at around two o'clock last Sunday afternoon. Strange indeed for there was the usual bunch of people around the stadium gates, presumably waiting to enter the ground.

Not until I reached the gates did I see the whole Brisbane City contingent, players, officials, and some couple of hundred of Leichhardt supporters waiting for someone to tell them what to do — and this is no joke, that is exactly what Jim Hermiston and his boys were wondering about.

Who cancelled the game? If it's official, why weren't they informed?

What to do now. Sit and wait, for there was no official in site or go back to the Motel and rest for tomorrow's match with Marconi.

Then, out of the blue surfaced Tony Labbozetta, the vice-chairman of the national league, accompanied by national coach Les Scheinlug. He was just as surprised as the visiting Brisbane City people about the cancellation.

Lambert Park was in good condition. Apparently the decision to cancel the match had nothing to do with the referee. If it had, I am sure he would have been demoted to refereeing the Under-6's for the next weekend. As it was, we had to drive over to the APIA club in the hope that the host of this match might be able to throw some light on the matter.

Mr Labbozetta got in touch with the League's Secretary and the word was, wait for it — the League has decided to cancel the matches due to inclement weather and waterlogged ground.

What is this? The National Mickey Mouse League or the best soccer competition in this country?

Maybe both, just to be on the safe side.

What I'd like to know is this?

If the decision to cancel the game was taken at 11.30 am, why on earth did not someone ring the motel and let Brisbane City people know, or is it too much to ask?

If that is not done, then surely someone had to be at the ground to wait for the visiting side to explain the why's and what for's of this momentous decision in Australian soccer.

The league also called off the Sydney City-Footscray encounter at Sydney Athletic field.

NSL General Manager Stefan Kamaz said: "We had hoped to make Anzac Day the Cup semi-final day so the position must be re-checked on Tuesday and the two deferred games may be played on Anzac Day."

Sydney athletic field was declared unplayable by Kamaz and match inspector Malcolm Buchanan at 11.30 am in the absence of Newcastle referee Jim Reeves, with one penalty area completely under water.

player at his previous Australian clubs before being brought south by Vest.

And former SA Rothmans Medalist Wally Bork can't even get into the team because the Honeyman-Wormley-Heys attack is functioning so well.

Even if it manages to sign Kafka in team, Woolongong won't win this game.

Brisb. City v. Makedonia

Record so far: Makedonia 3 wins, 1 draw, 0 loss; 8:4 goals.

Of all the fixtures this week, Makedonia's statistical advantage is the most convincing.

And Makedonia has a better team than ever now, with George Campbell fitting in well on the wing, Claude Lucchesi "burning" in attack, and Zarko Odzakovic dominating the midfield. All that's needed now is for Zoran Ilioski to strike form in midfield, and for the defence to tighten up a little.

Tansey breaks an arm

Jim Tansey had his right arm broken in Heidelberg's 4-0 victory over West Adelaide, and Mark Koussas scored with his first kick after coming on as a substitute in Olympic's 3-1 victory over Newcastle in the National Cup quarter-finals on Monday.

Oscar Crino, Doug Brown and Ken Murphy ran riot over Canberra as Hellas won 5-2 but the other match, between Marconi and Brisbane City, was called off despite the protests of referee Doug Rennie.

Rennie maintained that Marconi Stadium's playing pitch was in perfect condition despite the rain, but NSL official Tony Labbozzetta called the game off nevertheless.

Brisbane City coach Jim Hermiston is fuming, because his league match against APIA at Lambert Park had been called off the previous day. And the Lambert Park pitch also was in good condition.

NSL chairman Sam Papa-savas was most unhappy. "What are we going to do call off the games every time it rains?" he muttered at Middle Park.

receiving from Iloski on the right.

Gary Ward, back to his best up front, started the move for the second goal winning the ball back from a Wollongong midfielder on the halfway line. George Campbell ran onto his through ball and fended off a challenge down the left before sending over a cross which was slammed away by Claude Lucchessi.

Lucchessi got his second 11 minutes into the second half latching onto a through ball from David Jones to chip over the advancing Jim Preston.

Roy Cotton started the Wollongong comeback from deep in his own half. He withstood a couple of weak challenges to finish a 40 yard run with an angled shot past Richard Wilson from the right.

Cotton also had a hand in the third goal exchanging passes with Larry Jones who laid the ball on for John Fleming to put it away from inside the six yard box.

WHAT THE COACHES SAID: The three points from the game put Preston in second place in the table but Wollongong coach Willie Wallace was unimpressed by the Melbourne side.

"If they (Preston) are going to win the league, we won't be far behind them. They're terrible at the back. Their back four is shocking and it was murder once we started to take the game to them," said Wallace.

"We had quite a good second half and I thought we deserved a point from the match. We created more chances than they did. We let in a soft third goal — the keeper should have had that. When you leave your line you've got to make sure you get the ball."

Preston coach Peter Ollerton saw the match differently. He admitted that his side almost gave it away in the end but said that overall Preston was the far superior side.

"On chances we should have scored five or six goals but everything went dead after they got their first goal. I would have liked to win it 3-0 but because I think that goal difference will play a part at the end of the season. Still that's a long way off and it's nice to finish up with the points."

NEWCASTLE: Gosling 7 — Maier 5, Burke 5, Watson 5, H. Treddinick 7 — Mason 8, Senkalski 7, Cowburn 7 — Lowe 9 (Boogard 76th), Mountford 8, Jones 8. Coach: Ken Kaiser.

ADELAIDE CITY: McNally 7 — Shillabeer 6, Cole 8, Banfield 7, B. Nysholus 8 — Maita 6, Dods 7, Carter 6 (U. Nysholus 60th) — Rankin 5, Maxwell 7, Mullans 9. Coach: Bobby Ferguson.

Neville Flounders may soon be returning to Adelaide City to link up with Neil Banfield. The English pair formed a successful central defensive partnership last year.

Flounders is in England. If the Adelaide City board and coach Bobby Ferguson decide that his services are required urgently he will be flown back here within 10 days.

Adelaide City is being backed by Qantas and has two free air tickets with which to import players from the U.K.

Coach Ferguson hasn't yet finally decided on whether Flounders will use up one of the tickets. The former Scottish international goalkeeper has however, decided that his squad lacks quality and depth. He is looking at four possible newcomers. One of them, midfielder Rob Campbell from Perth Azurri, is on trial at present.

Adelaide City thought that it had got off to a decent start against Newcastle at the International Sports Centre last Saturday when the ball was cut back from the by-line and Joe Mullens headed in. However, the goal was ruled offside.

"It was a typical eastern states' decision. You get used to that and get on with the game," said Ferguson, after the match.

Adelaide City didn't take long to recover from this set back and scored in the 16th minute. The ball was crossed from the right, Les Carter headed down and Peter Rankin had the simple job of tap in.

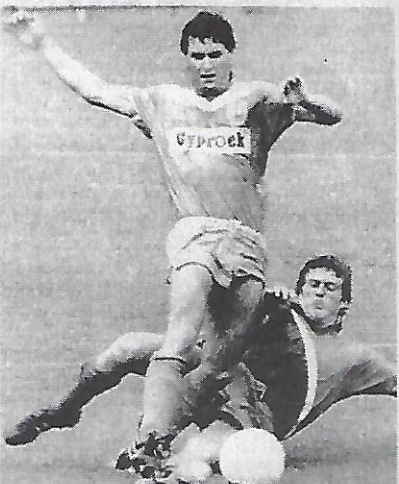

Just before half time David Jones crossed from the left and unmarked Bob Mountford, who should have been picked up by either Banfield or sweeper Phil Cole, headed firmly to level.

Youth internationals steal the limelight

Australia's youth internationals stole the limelight in a tense, exciting match played in storming conditions between Lions and Marconi at Richmond Stadium.

Lions won 2-0 thanks to goals from young Socceroo Russell Stewart, and former youth international and Socceroo squad member Steve Hogg. But Marconi could easily have got a point with fine showings from Tom McCulloch and Rodney Brown, initiating a determined second half comeback.

Much of the match was played in a torrential down-pour as a Queensland summer storm broke just after kick-off but neither side seemed affected nor was the ground, and the small crowd which braved the weather was justly rewarded.

Lions showed from the outset they were determined to end their losing run and after only 45 seconds John Ogden got in a good header on goal after a fine Lions' move.

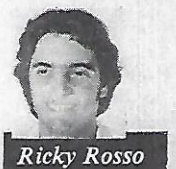

Marconi began equally as effectively and young stopper Allan Hunter saved the home side when he cleared a shot on the line with keeper Lownds stranded off his line.

Stewart, Wright, McCulloch and Brown were easily among the best on the ground and it was Wright who netted to give Lions the lead.

A brilliant ball by John Ogden found John Stewart, the brother of Russell who is playing on loan until an appeal against his $10,000 transfer can be heard. Stewart had his shot blocked by Marconi keeper Allan Maher but the ball rolled towards the touchline where Wright blasted it into the net from what appeared to be an impossible angle.

Ten minutes later McCulloch, who often dominated the midfield, had a header hit the cross bar but Lions went two ahead just before halftime when John Stewart headed on a ball to Hogg to rocket it into the top corner of the net.

With a two goal lead at half-time Lions looked in a strong position to win three points. But if they thought the second half was going to be easy Marconi gave them a real shock for the Sydney side applied intense pressure on the home team's defence and was unlucky not to peg at least one Marconi pushed big Tony Henderson forward more and sprayed the ball more across the park. But its finishing was poor. Too many players hesitated in front of goal and subsequently lost their chance as the Lions defence pounced on the man in possession.

In fact, that was the tone of the Lions performance all day. They did not play brilliant football but won the match because they did not stop running and tackling. Whenever a Marconi player beat a man there were two more shutting him down again.

And the Lions players were not afraid to desert their position to cover for a team-mate or pick up a loose player. Marconi left it too late to start pulling the Lions' defence wide and chose rather to run at the central defence which only resulted in them losing the ball, having their shot blocked, or occasionally winning a free-kick.

Marconi did break through on two occasions, both times with Mark Jankovics, but the former golden boy of Australian soccer failed to produce his renowned finishing. The first time his shot was blocked by young Allan Hunter, who had a big game, and the second time — with only Lownds to beat — his shot skimmed the outside of the upright.

McCulloch had an opportunity right at the death but although he put in a great shot Lownds produced the save of the day to turn it away for a corner.

The win enabled Lions to climb off the bottom of the table and on their performance they are likely to climb even higher. Their style won't win them any football purists — with only Lownds to beat — but their commitment will get them points.

Few clubs in Australian soccer can match the amazing success of Victoria's Italian giant, Juventus.

From 1952 to 1956 inclusive, Juventus won every championship as well as the 1952 Armstrong Cup and, as Italy, the 1955 Laidlaw World Cup.

In 1952 and 1954 Juventus did not lose a single game. In 1956, it scored its highest number of goals — 65.

In 1958, Juventus won the first championship of the newly-formed State League.

In 1970, a massive recruiting campaign resulted in Juventus winning the State League championship, the State League Cup and the prestigious Dockerty Cup which it retained in 1971 and 1972 and won once more last year.

Juventus has had countless Victorian representative and quite a few Socceros, including Jack Reilly, Tommy McCall, Billy Vojtek and Sandy Irvine.

And six of its players have won league best and fairest awards — Mario Busidoni, George Scott, Vojtek, Mick Watkins, Bobby McGuinness and Vince Bannon.

Busidoni and Scott won the old Argus Medal in 1955 and 1965 respectively. The Bill Fleming Medal went to Vojtek in 1975 and to Watkins in 1977. McGuinness won the Rothmans Medal in 1981 and Vince Bannon is the current Rothmans Medal winner.

But Juventus has also had its bad years, including 1978. After coming third and winning the Dockerty Cup in 1977, Juventus had been expected to do well again but managed only eighth place.

"Juve" also finished eighth in 1960 and 1961, the seasons dominated by the then powerful Polonia.

There was another bad period in the early seventies when the team came seventh in 1972, tenth in 1973 and ninth in 1974.

Juventus was formed in 1948 by Tony Iannucci, the first president, Reno Fontana, the first secretary, and the late Father Galante of the Order of Carmelites.

Six months after the formation of the club, Olympic cyclist Nino Borsari took over as president and was to become the backbone of Juventus.

In its first season of competition, Juventus won every one of its 10 matches and was promoted to the Second Division.

The team's goal average was 45.5. One of the great players of this era was captain Reno Carollo who played until the mid-50s.

In the first match, Juventus contested — on April 16, 1949 — Carollo scored four goals in his team's 8-2 victory over Brighton.

Another star of those times — Martini — scored twice and goals from Bon and Bertoldo made a total of eight.

Other players in Juventus' original team included Charlie Musco, Plutini, Lucenti, Francesconi and coach Tieppo.

Juventus' ground at that time was the No. 9 oval at Royal Park.

Subsequent headquarters have been at Elsternwick, the Showgrounds, St Kilda Cricket Ground and of course, Olympic Park.

Juventus' career in top company started after gaining promotion to the First Division in 1951.

One of the super-stars of the fifties was Pepe Cubero, from the Spanish second division. Playing for J.U.S.T., Cubero tied with Bob Wernys of Polonia for the 1956 Argus Medal before transferring to Juventus in 1957 and starring for the next two seasons.

Of course, there was also Busidoni who had played for Turin and Pro Patria in Italy, and prolific goalscorer Bill Copeland who later bobbed up at many other clubs.

Other stars of that era included Sergio Bassi from Grion Pola and Pro Patria, Enzo Costa, Steve Camilleri who later moved to George Cross, Vida Kassai from Hungarian team Pecs and full back Giuseppe Sabidussi, father of present players Bruno and Carlo Sabidussi.

Like Cubero, Peter Vidovic served both J.U.S.T. and Juventus. He came to Juventus in 1949 from Italian club Fiume, switched to J.U.S.T. in 1950 and later captained J.U.S.T. and Victoria.

Other Juventus players in the State team in the 50s included Ernes Boz, Pepi Plateto, Max Vivoli, Kassai, Sabidussi and Beghini.

The outstanding newcomer of 1958 was that exciting forward Frank Barbazza who came up through Juventus junior teams.

He made his senior debut at 17 and became the idol of the Juve fans until switching in 1968 to J.U.S.T. where a broken leg ended his career.

In the early sixties Rocky Frangioni was a man mountain in Juventus defence. He and Remo Guardiani and Reg Griggs were selected to the State team.

Englishman Geoff Tumblyn was another star, finishing second to Fred Falzon of George Cross in the 1961 Argus Medal count.

George Scott, the man who gave Juventus its second Argus Medal, arrived from Toronto in 1963, and had previously played for Notts County in England.

He was unlucky not to win a second Medal, as he was a close runner-up to Frank Micic of J.U.S.T.

After a run of ordinary seasons, Juventus finished second to Melbourne in 1967.

The man, who masterminded that success was Mario Corti, who joined Juventus as player-coach after serving as captain of Catania, star of Sampdoria and an international in the Italian B team.

Well-known Dino De Marchi and Dario Epifano, who are both with Fawkner now, were among the forwards of Juventus that season. In goal was Dieter Voigt who conceded only 21 goals.

After the 1967 season, Juventus lost Terry Luckhurst, George Scott, Freack Torcque, John Bell and John Milton.

Although the arrival of Soccerero Tommy McCall compensated partly for the losses, Juventus managed to finish only ninth in 1968, the year Croatia won the championship.

Then came a determined bid to regain power.

Twelve players were imported. Including goalkeeper Jack Reilly who played for Australia in the 1974 World Cup finals and is now with Hellas, and George Kinell who had been with Aberdeen, Oldham, Stoke, Middlesbrough and Sunderland.

Other imports of 1969 included Bernie Docherty (Notts County), Ron Frost (Bangor City), Sandy Irvine from London, Keith Lakey (Stockton), John Pryde, (South Africa), Bobby Robertson (Keith City), Gareth Sellebury (Bangor City), Bryan Thomson (Aberdeen), Bill Murray (Glasgow Rangers), Alistair Sandison (Woodside, England) and Keith Webster who is now with Frankston.

Juventus thus won the 1969 State League Cup and finished second in the league.

The following season, former Liverpool and Patrick Thistle defender Bobby Thomson transferred from Ringwood Wilhelmina and Tony Boggi became coach.

With all that talent, Juventus had to succeed and succeed it did, winning the championship, Dockerty Cup and State League Cup.

Many of the stars left the following year, but Juventus still managed to win two more Dockerty Cups before experiencing its worst period on record.

In 1974, to reverse its slide, Juventus bought Billy Vojtek from Sydney Croatia and Ian Marshall and David Gorrie from Hellas. This resulted in Juve finishing fifth in 1975 but the slide continued the following year when Juventus found itself in 10th position.

In 1977, under president Paul Mirabella and coach Bobby McLachlan, Juventus recruited well to achieve its greatest success since 1970.

Players to join the club were Steve Walker and Jim Armstrong from Hellas, Charlie Smith from J.U.S.T., Mick Watkins and Ged Bannon from South Africa, Hugh Graham and John Holston from Scotland and Tony Mainenti from Fawkner.

The following year, 1978, Juventus lost Fausto Tarquinio, Morris Bonfieni, Mainenti, Ged Bannon and Dino De Marchi and coach McLachlan was sacked half way through the season. David Gorrie became player-coach but Juventus was set to incur a series of coaching upheavals over the next few years involving such illustrious names as Manny Poulakakis, Frank Munro and Tony Boggi.

Juventus hit rock bottom in 1981 when it finished second last in State League. It looked like the beginning of the end for the Italian giant but the VSF restructured the leagues, increasing them from 12 to 14 teams. Juve's State League status was kept intact.

ity," said Manenti, a second generation Italian, whose parents came to Australia from Sicily over 30 years ago.

"I can remember the old days at Juventus when the club was a meeting place for thousands of Italian migrants. At Juventus games these migrants found work, a place to live and formed important friendships. Now, we need the support of second and third generation Italians. We have to show a bit of national pride."

That was the message Manenti received from Bernie Santamaria, elected president of Juventus at the end-of-season annual general meeting in 1981. Manenti immediately responded and joined the Juventus committee. He became president last year, for a three year term, and is determined to revitalise the club and get it on a sound financial footing, in anticipation of competing in the southern section of a regionalised national competition in 1984.

Manenti, 40, was educated at St Joseph's College, North Melbourne. He is a highly successful businessman, dividing his time between his managing directorship of Summerhill Crash Repairs (Preston) Pty Ltd and overseeing his thriving importing and exporting business, Manenti Corporation. Already he has made his mark in the administrative structure of Juventus, forming a men's social committee, a women's social committee and strengthening the junior committee.

Club Juventusini though, stands out as a major Manenti achievement. Its membership consists of the younger Juventus supporters in an effort to "end the generation gap."

"These kids run discs and are part of the cheer squad. They were out in force for our State League game against Croydon a fortnight ago and the atmosphere was fantastic. There were over a 100 black and white flags, trumpets and banners urging on our boys. It really was a great sight. From Club Juventusini we may find future administrators, who knows?"

Umberto Agnelli, who owns the mighty Juventus of Turin, came to Melbourne last year and met Manenti. The pair talked about closer links between their clubs. Agnelli was receptive to Manenti's suggestion that the Turin club send out young players to Melbourne. Manenti also arranged to send promising local boys to Turin to participate in a training camp. Agnelli now is an honorary member of Melbourne Juventus.

Manenti realises that his club must get a permanent home base, preferably in the Brunswick area, rather than continue to lease Olympic Park's No.2 oval.

"It's time that the Brunswick council made a decision. They've been talking for a while now about giving us a home in their area but nothing has been made official yet. We can't keep telling our members to wait. The council must act and act soon. Juventus must establish a home to embark on a campaign to get into the national competition. Our future certainly isn't at Olympic Park. We must find our own ground as soon as possible."

Juventus striker Graham French was set to join Melbourne Croatia in the off-season until Manenti intervened.

"I fought hard to keep French at Juventus. I refused to put him on the transfer list because I've got confidence in his ability to do a great job for our club. I expect him to repay that confidence this season."

"Our coach John Margaritis is doing a fine job with our boys. I was a bit wary at first when John was appointed but now I can see that we made an excellent decision. He really knows the game inside out and he encourages exciting, attacking soccer which is great for our spectators. You know, when we played Sunshine-George Cross in the first league game this season, I counted 29 shots we had at goal."

Juventus president Sam Manenti

Fawkner's gallant gladiators draw in front of 3,500

The battle of Jukes Road, for the first Melbourne Italian State League derby in 15 years, had one clear winner at the end of the most gruelling, gutsy game seen for a long time: the sport of soccer.

At least 3,500 spectators watched the encounter in the possible tradition of sportsmanship, this proving unfounded the fears of officials who were prepared for clashes and brawls among the opposing factions which often have been at each other's throats in the traditional end-of-season encounters in the Italian Cup.

Fawkner set out to salvage a draw at all costs and achieved that with the most defensive display in memory, helped by the short ground that made it impossible for Juventus to manoeuvre.

The determination and pressure game of the home team made a shambles of Juventus' usually orderly build-ups and the game degenerated into a wild-kicking, wild-bouncing affair.

Fawkner was without injured Rajko Curcija and Les Gooney, and suspended Carlo and Bruno Sabidussi, but one wonders if these regulars could have done any better than the 11 gladiators fielded on the day.

Juventus felt the loss of Andrew Zinni and the poor display of his substitute, Tony Heery, who often was swept aside by the strong men in the Fawkner defence.

A more suitable player for the occasion would have been tougher Jim Nelson who shoots and disposes of the ball very quickly, before the opposition pounces on him. Unfortunately, he was only given a nine minute run by coach John Margaritis, when sent in for overworked Kevin Lloyd. Nelson's entry into the hostilities coincided with Juventus' best attacking effort.

In the 55th minute Heery hit the foot of the post, two minutes later unmarked Graham French shot over the bar from a central position only 10 metres out and Rob Terzini did well in lifting over the bar an Incantalupo thunderbolt in the 80th minute.

Previously, in the 40th minute, Fawkner was lucky to survive a dangerous scramble on the goal line after a corner-kick and much more so in the 20th minute when Kevin Swinscoe hit the belly of the cross bar and the ball bounced on the goal-line before being cleared with difficulty.

Fawkner had one soft, far chance, in the 4th minute, when Joe Palinkas hit the cross-bar with an apparently innocuous lob.

If anything, Juventus was let down by its defence, which took too long in sending the ball upfield, thus giving Fawkner the time to mass 10 men in defence to control six Juventus players or to put paid to any chance by quickly applying the off-side trap. Left back Harry Hird was the only exception, and consistently built up play on top of neutralising Fawkner's most dangerous, if sporadic, attacks by Palinkas who was well supported by Andy Bozikas. For his classy, untiring display, Hird earned my vote as best on the field, closely followed by Tuffield and Schipano.

Gardiner's career at an abrupt end?

RINGWOOD WILHELMINA 0 MELBOURNE CROATIA 4 (Antolovic 10th, Cumming 54th, 68th, Latif 76th) at Jubilee Park.

RINGWOOD WILHELMINA: Jensen 5 — Vardas 5, Brooks 6, Pena 6, J. Groenewald 6 — Cork 6, Gibson 6, Burton 6 — White 5 (Tront 70th), van Loozen 4, Stewart 5. Coach: Mike de Bruyckere.

MELBOURNE CROATIA: Blasby 7 — Curcio 8, Parton 8, Adams 8, Hannah 8 — Blakic 8, Antolovic 8, Faulkner 8, Gojovic 8 — Latif 8, Cumming 8. Coach: John Gardiner.

Green Gully Ajax is prepared to drop its asking price of $4000 for talented sweeper John Gardiner — to $3000 provided Gardiner joins a team no higher than Second Division in the Metro Leagues!

Second Division club Waverley and Fourth Division outfit Moorabbin are keen to secure Gardiner's services and this season probably will be his last as a player. First Division club Bell Park also wants to sign Gardiner.

The man who represented Victoria with such distinction and played a crucial part in Ajax's championship wins in 1981 and 1982 now finds himself sidelined and with the June 30 transfer deadline drawing closer, Gardiner may be forced, by Ajax's stand, to prematurely hang up his boots. That would be a sad end to a marvellous career and a slur on the outstanding club in the recent history of Victorian soccer.

Meanwhile, Gardiner's return to the coaching helm at Melbourne Croatia continues to pay dividends, this time at the expense of Ringwood Wilhelmina at Jubilee Park on Sunday.

With just 10 minutes gone Jozo Antolovic pounced on a poor attempt by Rick Jansen to punch clear and hammered the ball home from an angle about eight metres out.

Antolovic set up Croatia's second goal in the 54th minute when he won possession then slipped a through ball to Tommy Cumming who rounded Jansen and tucked the ball away.

Croatia went further ahead in the 68th minute after the ball was worked up the left and crossed to Antolovic who headed home for Cumming to hammer in from about 10 metres out.

George Hannah, playing his first game for Croatia since transferring from South Melbourne Hellas two weeks ago, played the ball through to Ossie Latif who chested down then bravely sidefooted past the helpless Jansen to make it 4-0.

Former Croatia, Croydon, Moorabbin and Victorian State team midfielder Joe Tront surprisingly started the match on the bench. He finally came on in the 70th minute and two minutes later figured in Wilhelmina's best scoring chance but his header was well tipped wide by Croatia goalie Peter Blasby.

Tachiris in a tangle, Cumming to strike

"Rocky" Tachiris, the Sunshine-George Cross goalie supposedly transferred to Northcote a few weeks ago for $2000 is almost certain to return to the combine this week.

Tachiris joined Sunshine-George Cross last year from Northcote and was one of the combine's most consistent performers. He reportedly was unhappy with coach Tony Vellas, since replaced by Scottish import Tommy Traynor, and was set to join South Melbourne Hellas until the combine's asking price of about $3,500 proved prohibitive. Tachiris then settled on Northcote. The Northerners have paid the combine $1000 already, with another $1000 outstanding but the snag is that Tachiris has changed his mind and wants to return to Chaplin Reserve, where he will be welcomed with open arms.

"The VSF tells us that Tachiris' transfer to Northcote didn't go through so he can return to us without too much trouble. Of course, we'll have to give back Northcote its $1000," said combine president Alf Zahra.

Tachiris may find himself rushed into the combine line-up which faces Fawkner on Sunday at Chaplin Reserve. John Stevenson, bought from South Melbourne Hellas for $5000 last week also is almost certain to play against Fawkner.

If fancy the combine to break its "duck" and win its first game of the league season here.

Ringwood Wilhelmina already is struggling and won't get any joy out of its home game against Green Gully Ajax. Dutch sponsored Wilhelmina needs at least four top class players to do well in State League. The delayed installation of a new committee isn't helping Wilhelmina and the sooner this matter is resolved one way or the other, the sooner coach Mike de Bruyckere and his players can settle down to confronting the season of struggle ahead.

Victorian State League with CRAIG MACKENZIE

Northcote has started its league campaign with a bang but will come back down to earth on Sunday when it tangles with Melbourne Croatia. Tommy Cumming is hitting the goal trail and gets a chance here to add to his recent scoring record.

South Melbourne Hellas will be trying to become the first team to score against Juventus this league season when it travels to Olympic Park to take on John Margaritis' third placed outfit. I don't fancy Hellas' chances.

Surely Morwell Falcons can record their first home win of 1983 at Doveton's expense on Saturday.

Albion Rovers could surprise Croydon at Selwyn Park and hold out for a draw. Rovers contained Ajax for 45 minutes on Sunday and should Croydon get carried away with going forward it will find Kenny Smart and Mickey D'Sylva a dangerous duo on the break.

Alex Marshall could hold the key to the outcome of the Box Hill v. Polonia clash at Wembley Park on Sunday. The giant Polonia striker gave a shoddy display on the weekend against Northcote but the big man can restore some lost prestige here. I'm tipping a draw here even though Box Hill should go into the clash as favorite after its fine start to the season.

This weekend's games with likely winners in capitals:

Saturday
MORWELL FALCONS v. Doveton at North Crinigan Reserve, 2.45 pm.

Albion Rovers v. Croydon (draw) at Selwyn Park, 2.45 pm.

Sunday
Ringwood Wilhelmina v. G. G. AJAX at Jubilee Park, 3 pm.

Northcote v. CROATIA at John Cain Reserve, 3 pm.

JUVENTUS v. S. M. Hellas at Olympic Park No. 2, 3 pm.

SUNSHINE GEORGE CROSS v. Fawkner at Chaplin Reserve, 3 pm.

Box Hill v. Polonia (draw) at Wembley Park, 3 pm.

ARMSTRONG APPREHEENDED

SOUTH MELBOURNE HELLAS 1 (Bozinovski 18th) MORWELL FALCONS 3 McGuinness 9th & 75th, and O'Callaghan 55th) at Middle Park.

SM HELLAS: Perrow 6, Postkopulos 6, Kakaniotakis 7, Kallifotis 8, Vardas 1 (sub. H.T. Kanellopoulos), Abram 6, Bozinovski 7, Kaiser 6, Elzouba 6, Van Egmond 6, Kalamakos 6. Coach: Jim Armstrong.

MORWELL FALCONS: Whiteside 6, Train 6, Irvine 7, Dardy 6, Smart 6, Young 6, McCullough 7, Evans 7, Mitten 6, McGuinness 7, T. Van Baar 6. Coach: Tony Boggi.

Morwell Falcons (or should that read Melbourne Wanderers?) eventually won this game by a handsome margin, but only after a woe-filled first-half display that reduced coach Tony Boggi to near-apoplexy.

It was a different matter in the second half, though, as the experience and skill of Eric Young, Alan Evans and Sandy Irvine became too much for the Hellas youngsters.

To be fair, Falcons started off with a handicap as Jim McLean was unavailable through suspension and captain John Higham declared himself unfit after the pre-match warm-up.

But they were soon in front, when, after only nine minutes, Tony Van Baar pounced on a poor clearance and squared to Evans, whose hard shot was parried by Mark Perree, and Bobby McGuinness was on hand to pick up the crumbs.

Hellas undeservedly equalised nine minutes later, when Vlado Bozinovski climbed all over Billy Whiteside to head home a corner. Whiteside protested vigorously, and rightly, but referee Bernie Upjohn, who had an unhappy afternoon, was unmoved, as well as unsighted.

Hellas brought on John Ringwood for Peter Vardas at half-time, with Tom Kaiser switching, to left-back, and after John O'Callaghan had restored Falcons' lead, Kaiser's inexperience in setting the offside trap, which up to then had been Hellas' main weapon, left McGuinness all alone to pick up Evans' shrewd through ball and beat Perree with ease.

That was all the football, but there was plenty of other fun. John Bozinovski accidentally was kicked in the groin, and referee Upjohn, who had been busily engaged in debating the finer points of the game with Noel Mitten, seemed content to let the Hellas player crawl on his hands and knees to the touchline for attention, until Tony Boggi took pity on him, and dragged him off.

Meanwhile, an enraged Jim Armstrong, steaming across the ground to his player's aid, had come into direct confrontation with the ref, who, finding himself getting nowhere with Jim, tried to enlist the arm of the law.

Eventually, two bored constables strolled up, hands in pockets, and contented themselves with observing the farce from close range. It was all too absurd for words.

Will Morwell be a force in this year's State League? It will if it ever gets fit. As some was observed, it might be better if the players ran to Morwell once a week instead of being transported there.

Skye, not Cowboys?

As we went to press Victorian Bayside League club Skye was set to amalgamate with Frankston City, which withdrew its VSF membership recently.Frankston City initially was negotiating a merger with another Bayside League club, Carrum Cowboys, but Skye has lobbied the local council with a view to linking with Frankston and using its home ground Centenary Park, in McClelland Drive.Skye reportedly has told the council that it will cover Frankston City's outstanding ground rental and it boasts about 150 juniors so it argues that it offers an important sporting outlet for the local community, more so than Carrum Cowboys, which just has a senior side.The Bayside League select drew 3-3 two weeks ago with last year's Bayside champion, Lysaught's, in their annual challenge match.The league, not affiliated with the VSF, will consist of 10 clubs this year: Lysaught's, Carrum Cowboys, Skye, Hastings,

NEWCASTLE IN FOCUS

Newcastle KB United joined the national competition in 1978 and immediately attracted huge crowds, as well as giving the league a more national flavor.

Under the astute guidance of manager-coach Alan Vest, KB established itself in the league, albeit that Vest and his board of directors had to work within strict budget guidelines.

Vest left KB near the end of the 1981 season and was replaced by former Soccerco striker Ray Beatty, on a caretaker basis. Ken Kaiser, who joined KB in 1978 and had coached the reserves and youths, took over last year and in the current coaching supremacy, Kaiser can look forward, with confidence, to a good year for KB with Bob Mountford back from injury and imports, Peter Burke and Barry Wesson, in his squad.

Here are the players who can make 1983 one of the best ever in the national competition for Newcastle.

Δύσκολο είναι να ξεχωρίσει παίκτες από την νικήτρια γιατί όλα τα παιδιά έπαιξαν καλώς για την νίκη.

'Η συνάντηση μπορεί να είχε μεγάλη σημα-σία αλλά κέρως μέσα σε αληθινά πλαίσια χάρη στην πολύ καλή διαίτησία του κ.Π. Αποστόλου που δεν άφησε το παραμικρό δι-μυσία σε νικητές και ηττημένους.

'Ηταν άμεσώτατος, σωστός, κοντά στις επί-μαχες φάσεις, ενώ η κίνηση κάρτα του έ-δειξε στον πορτοφάλη ήταν κλασική πε-ρίπτωση και άδυστατο να την απέφυγε.

Τελικά η διαίτησία του ήταν η μέρα με την νύκτα από αυτή που τον είχαμε δει σε αγώνα του θερμικού τουρνουά.

Δεν συγχάρουμε. ΑΡΟΣΤΟΛΟΥ 10.

'Εταν μία κα-λή προσπάθεια του Λιακούπου που πήγε μπροστά και έπιασε σουτ, 6 τερματοφύλακας απέκρουσε αλλά η μπάλα πήρε ύψος και πή-γανε στα όγκια για να την προλάβει ο Περ-τρίανης και να την στείλει πύθ γρήγορα.

Στο Β' μέρος και στο 47' ο θανμάσιος Γιάν-νης Βολγάρης έκανε από κοντά το 2-0 και στο 59' 6 Λιακούπου μόνος του έχασε βέ-βαιο τέρμα.

Στο 72' όμως 6 έτοιμο παίκτης έβγαλε από τους άμυντικούς και έγραψε το 3-0 που ή-ταν και το τελικό.

Με την Δόξα αγωνίστηκε και πάλι 6 πεζέ-ραμένος Πέτρης 'Αποστόλης, ενώ δεν άγω-νίστηκε 6 Πέτρης 'Αμμαντρίαν.

'Η σύνθεση: 'Αποστόλης, Πέτρης (58') Τσοτλάνης, Ντένης 'Αποστόλης, Φ. Δημητρί-ου, Κουτρούβλης (80' 'Αποστόλης), Βολγα-ρης, Περτρίανης, Τζινης Δημητρίου, Περτρί-ανης, Λιακούπου, Νίκος Μελέτης.

Πιστεύεται ότι οι φίλαθλοι θα δώσουν έν-τονο το παρόν.

ΝΕΤΡΑΝ ΝΙΚΗ ΣΤΙΣ ΟΧΑΙ 5-1

Το 'Αντλντ πολύ καλό σε όλες τις γραμ-μές κυριάρχησε σε όλα το διάστημα το-γώνα επί του Κόρυουγκ και κέρωσε δίκαια με 5-1.

Τα τέρματα για την ελληνική ομάδα πέτυ-χε ο Πέτρης 2, 6 Καρσόνινας 2 και 6 Σταυ-τάλας.

NEOEKIVAN ALI KORISTAN ODMOR

JUST je uzalud putovao u Sydney, jer nije mogao da igra prvenstvenu utakmicu zbog vremenske nepogo-de. "PLAVI" se nalaze u krizi iz koje je tesko izvace, jer su u pocetku naleteni na teske i nezgodne protivni-ke. Neodigrana utakmica u Sideju mnogo ce znaciti za smirivanje duhovna i zivaca u "plavom" taboru. Bilo je potrebno vreme da se zaustavi ospajanje, a novi igraci ukljuci u novu sredinu. "Plavima" je mnogo lakse da ostvare preokret protiv Canberra City na svom terenu nego protiv Sydney City-a u gostima.

U medjuvremenu, JUST se polako ali sigurno opo-ravljao. Zdravko Lujic je odustao od namere da predje u Heidelberg. Tako nam kaze predsednik Zika Karic, inace ne bi putovao u Sideju. Bez obzira na odliku, koji je je doneo Lujic, Paton ce preci u JUST ako se uklone neke "sine" prepreke. Slobodan Jovanovic se vratio iz dobrovoljnog prognostva i zajedno sa oper-isanim Vlatkom Belicem nastupio je za drugi tim prosle subote. Objavio su "skripali", a kako i ne bi posle dugog adueta, ali vec iduce nedelje treba ocekivati poboljsanje. Vratilo se i golman Milutin Ciric iz Jugoslavije, sto ce uzbliziti golmane, jer bez konkurencije igra se slabije. Dolazak Boatha iz Novog Zelanda i Sinclaira iz Skotske se ocekuje vrlo brzo, zbog cega nema panike u strucnom stabu i upravi JUST-a, ali navijaci su nestrijpljivi.

U nedelju 10. aprila JUST igra protiv Canberra City na svom igralistu u Footscray-u. To je prilika, koja ne sme propustiti, jer ce pobeda doneti vazan preokret i uspon JUST-a.

Predvidjeno je da se odlozena utakmica sa Sydney City-om odigra na ANZAC Day, u ponedjeljak 25. aprila, sto je velika prednost za domacina, koji dan ranije igra u Wollongongu, dok JUST treba da leti iz Melburna posle teske utakmice sa Markonijem.

MAKEDONJIA U BRIZBANU

Posle izvanredne igre, ali neubedjive pobede nad Wollongongom, Makedonjia odlazi u Brisbane, gde ce moci da potvrdi svoju ambiciju za osvajanje prvog mesta u Nacionalnoj ligi. Ukoliko izvuku neresen re-zultat pokazace da njihova ambicija nije bez osnova. Glavna atrakcija za nase ljude bice Zarko Odzakov, koji se je idealno ukljopio u novu sredinu.

Croatia je izibila na celo Drzavne lige, gde ce verovatno ostati do kraja prvenstva, pored jake konkrencije. Preporodjeni Northcote Rocksace iduce ne-delje da joj pokvari racune. Porasle su i ambicije Cirkevicoskog Fawknara, narocito posle podede bodova sa Juventusom, kome ne uspeva da povratu oreol stare slave.

DRUGA DIVIZIJA

RINGWOOD/SRBILJA - HEIDELBERG UTD. 1:0 (0:0). Pred rekordnom posetom na svom igralistu, Srbija je zasluzeno pobedila Heidelberg i popela se u vrh tabele, gde deli prvo mesto sa Keilor/Austrijom i St. Albans/Dinamom. Heroj je ponovo bio golman Jimmy Milisavljevic, koji je sacuvao svoju mrezu netaknutu za 270 minuta. Jedini gol postigao je George Gillan u 46. minutu. Rezerva je izgubila sa 2:3 (1:2). Strelci: Milan Samanovic i Miki Sedlarevic. U subotu 9. aprila Ringwood/Srbija je gost Waverley City-a.

DRUGI TIM JUST-A-NUNAWADING CITY 2:2 (1:1). Iako pojascani sa Jovanovicem i Belicem "plavi" su se dobro prepoznali za neresen rezultat. Imali su bolje sanse za pobedu, ali su napravili neoprostive greske u odbrani. Strelci: Ante Perez Reiposa iz jednaesterca i Tom Karic. Najbolji igraci: Emil Petrov, Dancie Smurgrevski i Peter Hrehorsien. Rezerva je pobedila sa 2:1 (1:1). Strelci: Jimmy Fernandez i Ivica Karic. U subotu 9. aprila "plavi" igraju u St. Albansu protiv Dinama, koji trenira Bilji Vojtek.

DRUGI TIM MAKEDONJIE - WAVERLEY CITY 2:2 (1:2). Strelci: Con Stoykops iz jedanaesterca i Peter Ollerton. Igra je bila revnopravna. Makedonjia je imala zrelije sanse. Pred kraj igre Riste Nicevski je pogodio stavu. Najbolji igraci Arthur Christov, Arthur Donis i Gary Ofranakos. Rezerva je izgubila sa

0:1. U subotu 9. aprila drugi tim Makedonije gostuje u Springvalu.

HAWKSBURN NA CELU TABELE

HAWKSBURN je izbio na celo prve provizionalne divizije, posto je pobedio uvek neugodnog Claytona u gostima sa 2:1 (1:1). Junak ove pobede bio je Andras Kazi, koji je postigao dva gola, ali je znacajnu ulogu odigrao Slavko Visic, koji je usao u igru posle odmore. Najbolji igraci: Jani Palo, Steve Bieskani i Joe Sabo. Rezerva je igrala nereseno 1:1 (1:1). Jedini gol je postigao Joe Forai, dok su Istvan Laslo i Slavko Driljic uprogastili nekoliko idealnih prilika. U subotu 9. aprila Hawksburn docেকে Clifton Hill na igralistu Knox City-a.

PELISTER DOBIO DERBI

PASCOE VALE/PELISTER je iznenadio ALTOUNU/VOJVODINU u gostima. Istina Vojvodina je imala više od igre i zrelije sanse, ali igraci Pelistera su u poslednjem minutu postigli gol iz slobodnog udarca, koji im je doneo neocekivanu pobedu. Pored pora-za, Vojvodina je i dalje favorit za prvo mesto u trecoj provizionalnoj diviziji. U subotu 9. aprila Pascoe Vale je domacin Dallas City-u, dok je Vojvodina gost West Melbourne.

Kao se dvoje svadjaju treci se koristi. BRATSTVO/JEDINSTVO je na celu tabele trece divizije, posle izvanredne igre protiv Clarinde, koju je pregazio sa 9:1 (6:0) u gostima. Golove su postigli: Milenko Culibric 5, Milan Stojilovic 3 i Zdravko Dabic 1. I Rezerva je pobedila sa 4:2 (1:2). Strelci: Sime Rukavina, Predrag Cvek, Joe Francisti i Toma Okovic. U subotu 9. aprila Springvale United (Bratstvo/Jedinstvo) igra protiv Old Scotch Collega na igralistu Jugoslovenskog radnickog centra u Keysboroughu.

PRIJATELJSKE UTAKMICE

Amaterski prvak Melbourne CRVENA ZVEZDA pobedila J.A.S.K. iz Aselaine sa 4:3 posle produzetka od 20 minuta na igralistu JUST-a u Footscray-u. Gosti su imali vise od igre, ali je Zvezda bila opasnija pred golom. U regularnom vremenu rezultat je bio 3:3. Strelci: Mladen Mutic 2, Dragan Milenkovici i Zoran Krnic za Zvezdu, Bora Nakic, Zoran Krnic autogol i Elvis Markov za jask.

U proji predgri juniori Zvezde su pobedili juniore JASK-a sa 1:0. Strelac Jovica Mutic.

Najzanimljivija je bila utakmica izmedju navijaca Zvezde i JUST-a. Proslavio se Slavko Driljic, koji je postigao 5 golova za Zvezdu koja je pobedila sa 7:3. Vecina navijaca Zvezde jos uvek igra aktivno fudbal, dok su navijaci JUST-a pravi fudbalski penzioneri.

F.K. BOSNA je odigrala prijateljsku utakmicu protiv NISANA, koga je savladala sa 6:3 (5:0). Trener Muhamed Tubic je izveo novijima postavu, ali je posle odmore dao sansu novajlijama, koji se nisu najbolje snasli, sto je protivnik iskoristio da popravi rezultat. Strelci za Bosnu: Milorad Velickovic 2, Dragoljub Slijivar, Muhamed Tubic, Emin Hasic i Branko.

U nedelju 10. aprila pocinje amatersko prvenstvo Melbourne. Bosna igra protiv Old Scotch Collega na Darling Parku, Winton Rd., East Malvern, My.80 A.11. Crvena zvezda, koja brani naslov amaterskog prvaka, igra protiv Dandy Olympica na Como Parku.
